Mrs. Winsten leaped, or fell, to her death from her fourth floor room in the Ansonia November 29, 1914.

The petition to probate the destroyed will was made by her husband, Albert Winsten, who sets forth that the destruction of the will was a "fraud in law upon her intent."

A copy of the will she signed was kept by the attorney for the estate. By its provisions a large part of the catate, valued at $300,000, is divided between the husband and two sons. The sanish Ambassador and Madame Riano also were in the party, and the fact that they were seated below the two representatives from the warring nations was due to the fact that of Riano is younger in point of service in Washington than his two colleagues. The friendship between Mrs. Townsend, Count von Bernstoff, and the fact that she included them among her guests is no more to be regarded as a berach of neutrality than that the Russian Ambassador and Madame Bakhmeteff, the French Ambassador and Madame Jusserand, or any other representatives of the allies should be invited to any heltering Guardian Society.

NEUTRALITY KEPT AT Half of States By 1917, TOWNSEND DINNER New Slogan of "Drys"

One-Fourth of Population, in One-Third of States, Already Under State-Wide Prohibition-Many Hard Fights Now Under Way.

Half the States in the Union "dry" by the end of 1916! Exactly one-third of them already have "gone dry." Since September 22, last, seven States have been carried by "drys." the People in Washington who have been watching the progress of the "dry" movement in the legislatures, which are now in session in about two-thirds of the States, declare that the present year's end may see half the States lined up for the drought.

Never has there been a time when any matter of legislation "back home" was watched with such absorbing interest by public men in Washington, as the sessions now are being observed with reference to the liquor issue. Public men at this end of the line, as party leaders, are constantly being called upon for counsel and direction in matters concerning their party interests in the States; and right now they are busy giving advice about handling liquor legislation in all parts of the

When Underwood and Hobson ran for the Senate last year it was made a wet-and-dry fight, and Underwood won a big victory. The country got the impression that the result was assurance that the State would remain wet. But as a matter of fact, though i elected a "wet" Senator and a very "wet" governor, Alabama chose a legis lature that was overwhelmingly "dry When it met early this year it passed a State-wide prohibition bill, which the governor vetoed. The vote on the constitutional amendment, which is merely a means to making prohibition water-tight and insurine that it never can be repealed except by a vote of the people, will be taken in 1918.

New Jersey is not expected to adopt State-wide prohibition. The fight there is for a municipal local option act, which he "drys" regard as a long step forward. Advices today say that the measure is sure to pass the senate, which is to vote on it next Tuesday.

THE ANNUAL CLEARANCE SALE OF WOMEN'S SHOES

In Assortments and Savings It Is One of the Best We Have Ever Arranged

THIS IS OUR ANNUAL CLEARANCE OF ALL HIGH SHOES.

As is our annual custom, we have assembled all the incomplete lines, odd sizes and styles of the stock of Women's High Shoes, which we will not duplicate another season, in order to close them out quickly, and while they are yet in correct fashion.

They are Shoes that we know thoroughly because they are the remainders of our own stock that we have been selling during the winter, and come from the same makers that supply our high-grade footwear at all times.

It hardly seems necessary to make any comment in regard to their style, since the fact that only these small lots remain should be enough in their favor relative to the manner in which they have been received by our patrons.

We Present Here a Brief Description of Some of the Models to be Found in the Sale:

Patent Leather with cloth top, or black kidskin tops; turn and welt soles and Spanish or Cuban heels. Gun Metal Calfskin Shoes with kidskin tops, and Goodyear welt or turn soles and
